

"PEOPLE have been THINKING too long that ART is a PRIVILEGE of the MUSEUMS & the RICH. ART IS NOT BUSINESS!
It does not belong to banks & fancy investors.
ART IS FOOD. You can't EAT it BUT it FEEDS you. ART has to be CHEAP & available to EVERYBODY. It needs to be EVERYWHERE because it is INSIDE of the WORLD."

Your beautiful double-sided originals are ready to be dropped off at a local copy shop. There they'll be able to print, collate, fold & staple your books for you for a few cents per page. But if you'd rather do it yourself...

PRACTICE SPACE

Place your originals in the feed tray at the top of the copier. From the options menu select 2 → 2 (double sided to double sided), & hit print. The copies will come out in the side tray.

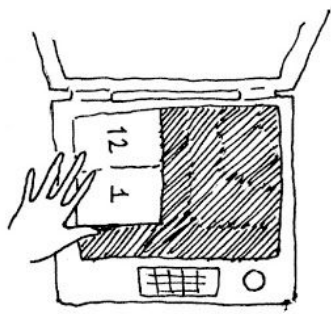

adjust the stapler guide to 5.5" and staple twice down the center.

fold it in half after stapling (trust me, it's easier) and you're finished.

this guide will show you how to self-publish a photocopied, saddle-stitched (that means stapled) 5.5"x8.5" book. There are a lot of advantages to this format: it's doesn't require any specialized tools or skills, it's incredibly versatile, it's quick to make & cheap to reproduce, and the result is a nice little pamphlet style book. It has limitations too, of course: it's not fancy, it's got to be short (~40 pages or less) and most bookstores won't stock a book without a spine. A book like this is ephemeral in exchange for being accessible. Nobody can stop you from sharing your work in a zine. You don't need approval from an editor, a publisher, a boss, or a website admin. All you need is...

white 8.5"x11" paper

pens & pencils

tape or glue stick

white out

copier

long-arm stapler (the copy shop will have one you can use)

scissors
